This almost 90-year-old building was constructed in 1925 during the Japanese colonial time. It was the workplace of former Professor Eikichi Iso who is well known as the Father of Ponlai Rice in the island of Taiwan. It was this house where Dr. Iso used to do research in agronomic crop improvement. In 2003, sizable research records and personal documents of Professor Iso were found in a room of this building. Later in 2009, this wooden house was declared as a municipal historical building.

This house is open to the public on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays and the open hours are 9:30-12:00 in the morning and 14:30-17:00 in the afternoon. For appoint of group visiting please contact Mr. Saki Liu at 02-3366-4789 or send emails to sakiliu@ntu.edu.tw.
